THE LONDON UNEMPLOYED.

A mass meeting of unemployed, organised by the London Trades Council, was held on Dec. 18 in Trafalgar Square. Violent eposches were made, and resolutions were carried asking the authorities to provide useful work for those willing to work, and urging the Government to sum mon a special session of Parliament with the object of dealing with the question and extending the powers of local authorities. The London Unemployed Committee, organised by Mr W. H. Long, President of the Local Government Board, have registered the names of over 14,000 applicants for work. Many demand trade union wages, and are refusing 4s. a day. The Committee appear to sympathise with the men's demand. The first batch of the registered unemployed have been sent to the Salvation Army farm at Hadleigh, in Essex.

The Committee have arranged to pay 10s. 6d. per week per man, and to sllow the wives remaining at home 10s, a week each, and a small allowance to each child.

Mr Abo Balley, of South Africa, has sent General Booth, of the Salvation Army, £1.000 with which to assist the London unemployed.

ARABIA AND BRITAIN,

Because some Egyptian pilgrims to Mosca appealed to Lord Cromer, the British Minister at Cairo, against abuses by the Grand Shereef, some of the French papers accuse Great Britain of trying to substitute in Arabia the rule of the Khedive of Egypt for that of the Sultan of Turkey. (Telegram from London December 13).

The French press (says the Sydney Morning Herald) is but following the lead of the Russian press in alleging that Great Britain has a desire to control Mecca. And, seeing that Great Britain is the greatest Mehammedan Power in the world, arguments would not be wanting to Ruesian minds to prove that she seeks virtual acquisition of the Holy City of so many of her subjects. The Novotti, of St. Petersburg, an organ not much given to Anglophobia, credits British foreign policy in the East with a penchant for placing its grasp on religious capitals. After Lassa, Mecca. The intrigues of a certain Power' with regard to the Holy City are said to have alarmed the Ottoman Government, whose Sultan claims to be the Caliph of the Mohammedans, and the Novosti does not leave the identity of the Power in question. Hence a St. Petersburg correspondent observes, 'It would seem as if the thorny cans. Suitable for Syndicate or Private subject of the "holy places of the East," Concern. Present Proprietor leaving for which produced such catastrophes 50 yearsago, is to assume more sweeping proportions in the increasing purpose of the twentieth century. From the earliest times the pilgrims from Mar to Mecos like been the prey of the Arab Ishmasites, though professing the same religion. The great caravan which merches yearly through Syria loses many of of its doyout wayfarers, while the still greater number who take boat to Jeddah and march over the mountains to Meoca are equally sufferers. though to a lesser; degree, because the route is shorter. #### HELD-UP' IN A LONDON WAREHOUSE.

One of the most daring robberies that THE Undersigned has received instruchave occupied the attention of the Metropolitan Police for several years past was skilfully carried out on Saturday afternoon, says the Dady Mail of December 29, amid the bustling activity of Clerkenwell.

Colonel T. J. Stockall, V.D., commanding the 21st Middleser Rifle Volunteers, one of the partners in the large and eldestablished firm of wholessle jewellers, Messrs J. J. Stockall and Sons, Limited, was he'd up in his warehouse by three well-dressed men, who, while pointing a pistol at his head, demanded the keys of the safes in which thousands of pounds' worth of jewellery were stored.

The colonel stoutly refused to hand them over, whereugion he was struck down by a blow delivered with a blunt instrument from behind. His legs and arms were necure'y stropped, a gag was placed in his month, and his keys were torn from his grasp. The thieves then removed his boots, evidently to prevent his making a noise by kicking upon the floor, and tied him in a standing polition to the supports of some shelves hidden behind a parcition.

There he remained suffering the agenies: of hunger and thirst, with the cords cutting into his wrists and ankles, from four o'clock on Saturday afternoon until eight o'clock on Monday morning, when he was found in a very exhausted condition by a warehouse- to man. His wrists on ! legs were very much swellen, and his right hand, in which he held his-keys, was severely injured by the men, who tore them by brute force from his grasp after he was securely bound. His head is also slightly injured;

OUR NEW CRUISERS.

Engineering describes the new craisers about to be laid down in the dockyards, and compares them with earlier vessels. The cruisers of the Daidem class have only a 4 in, protective deck, and the thickest armour on the gun positions is 42 in., so that they are absolutely incapable of standing up against a cruiser with a modern 7 in. gun, firing armour-piercing or capped projectles. The first of the County cruisers were little superior, as on the broadside they had Krupp steel only 4 in. thick, and the largest gun fitted on board was also in this instance the 6-in. weapon, which is not now reckoned quite satisfactory, even as a sucondary gun in cruisersor warships. The later vessels of this class were improved by the fitting of a how and stern-chasing 7 5 in. gon, while at the same time the broadside helt was increased in thickness to 6 in. But owing to the recognition of the advance in gun-power the central part of the latest ships and the gun positions are to be armoured with 7-in. and 8-in. carburi ed steel; at the same time the power of the guns has been very uniterially increased. They are to be fitted with four 9.2 in, and ten 7.5 in. guns, too, are to be of greater length than hitherto adopted, and therefore they will be of bleher power than the weapons of corresponding calibra fitted in the previous ships. In other words, there will be in the new ships four wespons capable of developing an energy of something like 25,000 foottons, or quite five times the energy possible with the 6-in, game of the Diadem, and ten developing about double the energy of the latter; so that the new cruisers at a range of four miles will be more effective vessels than the Diadems or the early Country vesels at a range of 25 miles. Even at this greater distance the primary guns of the new ships will collectively do more than double the damage of the fourteen 6 in, weapons in the earlier ships. In fact, one of these new cruisers of the Minotaur class will equal almost any two cruisers of the early County class; others might say that, as regards the Diadem, there is no comparison at all, This makes it the more serious that the Admiralty should re-uce the n wher to be buil to three instead of four as authorised by Parliament. The new yessels are to have a speed equal to that of the smaller and less powerful vessels namely, 23 knots. The machinery will be of the usual four cylinder triple compound type. and. will run at a picton speed of 10 0 f . per m nuts when developing full power-27,000

MAIL STEAMER DEPARTURES.

The following table is a chronologically arranged list of-mail steamer sailings to Europe, America, Canada, and Australia. Coast ports, Mauila, and Japan are not given, for steamers are constantly sailing for those ports. All the American steamers call at Japan, and the majority of the Australian boats call at Manila, and, in addition to those vessels, special steamers run there. The departure of every steamer is subject to alteration. The P. & O. mails usually reach London in about 28 days, and the French and German in about 8 or 30 days.

CHINA'S INTERNAL TROUBLES.

Most people who are interested in affairs Chinese are acquainted with the fact that the majority of those wild and lawless brigands who are known generally as the rebels of Kwangsi are opposed to the Manchu Dynasty. That their continuous demonstrations against authority are solely directed, however, against the throne, or that the rebels -or robbers-have hopes that eventually they will be able to overthrow ing while under the influence of liquor was the reigning house, is doubtful. CANTON, January 26. For some time now it has been publicly indicated that it was the Imperial will that achools for females should be opened throughout China, and it was hoped that there would be little opposition thereto. Recently it has transpired that a censor has memorialized the Empress Dowager on. the question. #### Presentation of Diplomas.

The presentation of diplomas gained by students of the Hongkong College Medicine for Chine e took place in the Legislative Council Chamber, at noon, in the presence of a number of gentlemen interested in the work of the College. His Excellency Sir Matthew Nathan, accompanied by his Private Secretary, Mr R. A. B. Ponsonby, was present and presented the diplomas. Amongstthose present were Hon, Mr F. H. May (Rector) Dr F Clarke (Dean), Dr J. C. Thomson (Secretary), Dr J. M. Atkinson, Mr T. Piercy, Hon Mr Brewin, Hon Dr Ho Kai, Dr Bateson Wright, Mr J. Dyer Pail, Hon Mr Wei Yuk, Dr W. Hunter, Dr Barnett, Deputy Inspector Gimlette, R.N., Dr P. Jordan, Mr. David Wood, Roy. C. H. Hickling, Mr A. Rumjahn, and Mr Young Hee. On His Excellency's arrival Dr Clark read the following address:-

Your Excellency-T have the honour in present to you four students of the Hongkong College of Medicine for Chinese, who have, after five years of real hard work, carned the proud distinction of becoming Licentiates of that College. The profession of Medicine is one that calls for many high qualities on the part of its votaries, and it is our carnest hope that these gentlemen will worthily maintain the honour and dignity of their calling; that they will be exemplary in the discharge Castro and J. P. Jordan. of their civil duties; that they will not solely as a means of earning a livelihood hire, in this as in all other earnest work, but rather that they will remember that it is their especial privilege to extend relief and consolation to their fellowcreatures in the hour of their affliction; and lastly that they will assist in spreading the light of learning among their countrymen, whose eyes have yet to be opened to many of the marvellous truths of modern science. We have much to learn from that anotent nation whose vast Empire lies beside us, for are they not models of patience and industry for all the world to imitate? But in the matter of the relief of human suffering the East has lauged sadly behind the West, and though the Asian pharmscopela contained many of the most potent drugs now known to Western Science for long years before their names even were known to us, yet their use has been hampered and impeded by all that overgrowth of mysticism, astrology and superstition from which the more robust thought of our own nation has long since shaken itself free. Yet we must not think that China's leaders are altoyether indifferent to the onward progress of science, for did not one of the greatest of hor sons, the late Li Hung Chang, write to us in 1887 that 'He hoped Chemistry and Anatomy would form a large and particular part of the training we meant to give.'

We have not yet done all that we wish to do in the direction of the teaching of Anatomy from the cadaver, but we have gone. I think, as far as we can go under: present conditions, and now we only await a College building for the more efficient training of our students, especially in the subjects of Anatomy and Chemistry, the former of which requires a Dissecting room and the latter a well equipped laboratory, and I think I may say that this is already beginning to take shape on paper, although we have not yet reached the more practical stage of bricks and mortar. The College has now 40 students attending its courses of lectures, which is double the number of students that we had only five years ago, and this ever increasing pressure on our space renders i necessary that we should materialize our ideals and with this aim in view we hope at no distant date to awaken the sympathies and loosen the purso-strings of our many friends here, and in China, and at home. and thus add one more monument to those which already testify so loudly to the marvellous progress and stability of our Colony.

The wording of our Diploma runs English and both s follows, in Chinese: 'We, the Dean, Lecturers and Examiners of the Hongkong College that Mr having attended courses of lectures during a period of five years, in the various departments of professional study required by the College, has been examined and has duly satisfied the examiners in each of those subjects; that he is qualified to practise Medicine, Surgery and Midwifery and that by authority of the Court of the College he is hereby granted the title of Licentiate in Medicine and Surgery of the Hengkong College of Medicine for Chinese. I now have the honour to present to your Excellency Mr Au Sx Cham, Mr Ma Luk, Mr Eugene Lionel de Sonza, and Mr To Ying Kwan, to receive at your justly carned. His Excellency then presented the di plomas and after doing so said, -- It gives in which J. Christie and S. Newman fig. me great pleasure to present the diplomas. I congratulate the students who have won them in an honourable profession which interesting. has for its objects the saving of life and the diminution of human suffering.

The Hon. Mr May, addressing His Excellency, said .- On behalf of the members of the Court and College I beg to tender you our thanks for coming here to-day. We all know how many demands are made on your time at this season of the year and we appreciate all the more your coming the United States and Great Britain for here to-day.

Negroes v. Whites.

For the first time in the history of the race trouble in the Southern States of British Politics. America, the judicial authorities of Brookhaven have taken action on behalf of the negroes. Of the members of one of the local Vigilance Committees implicated in negro-lynching, all being whitemen, one was sentenced to imprisonment for life, five to 50 years' penal servitude, one to 25 didate, who polled 3,078. years, and four to 29 years. - Ex.

GOSSIP FROM SHANGHAL

SHANGHAI, January 18. The echoes of the Bund Tragedy are still with us; indeed, the ridiculous sentence of four years' imprisonment passed on the "Askeld" sailer who committed the crime has served to fan the slumbering indignation into fiercer same, and once again it was only the prompt action of the Ningpo gentry which succeeded in subduing a meeting which most assuredly would have ended in a riot, harmful both to the agitators and the Settlement at large. A resolution has been passed that no notes on the Russo-Chinese Bank are to be accepted. This may have little sound sonse but it will of necessity cause inconvenience, and, as a matter of fact, a shroff connected with a Hongkow Wharf was fixed in his de termination not to accept payment in this kind from an irate customer the lack of combination and organisation amongst the Chinese but it is not quite accurate. JOY IN JAPAN, 🗈

How the Capitulation of Port Arthur was Received.

(From Our Correspondent.)

Touto, January 4. "Ryojunko is once more ours. Banzai! That is the shout that might have been heard from one end of Japan to the other to-day, had one had ears to hear so far. The news was received sometime during the night of the 2nd and 3rd, that is it was made known to the people at that time. By a prearranged signal of three guns, the populace were to be informed of the capture or capitulation of Port Arthur, and at about thirty minutes quat midnight yesterday morning the three guns boomed out.. The intelligence was at first received as a rumour still intended to cophasise the festivities of the second of the great New Year Holidays, which are the 1st, the 3rd, and the 5th. New Year's Day itself is kept cather quietly, official calls are made by all classes and oboisance is made before the pictures of the Emperor and Empress by those who are privileged to perform that upon immediate relatives and particular friends but the mass of the people are disposed to remain quietly in their own homes. and take their pleasure estudy in the bosom of the family. The 2nd is called the re-commencement of work, and shopkeepers attend their places business for the first time, while the coolies who have occasion to carry merchandise through the streets, decorate their carts with flags and extra lanterns and resume their occupation with considerable shouting, and it may be suspected an extra cup or two of sake. The 3rd is given up to merry-making, to social gatherings that frequently run into riot, and the 5th brings to a close the distinct New Year's holidays with more or less of the repetition of the scenes and acts of the 3rd, although the women are more particular to perform certain religious duties at their parish temples or their favourite shrine. So when the Japanese people, who were inclined to take their pleasure in the somewhat dissipated fashion that is permitted on the 3rd, met together that morning, the nows and it is already beginning to make its from Port Arthur had been confirmed, and appearance in the closing of one or probably the first toust-if we may use the term for the Japanese fashion of drinking | be husband and wife. together—was: "Hurrah for the conquest.

> for our Emperor and his redoubtable army and navy ! All through that day, he who met his friends without expressing satisfaction at the news, whether he was a native or s foreigner, would have been looked at askance; and probably there are few foreigners who were not more than willing to give utterance to such congratulations, for whether their sympathies are sincerely and actively with the Japanese in this refrain from an expression of satisfaction that a stop had been put to the wanton and useless destruction of human life and the waste of material in the investment of Port Arthur. That there was a single Japanese who did not honestly express his sentiments when he shouted that Banzai, cannot be believed; for even those who are > opposed to the war-from whatever motive -were glad that another long step had been taken towards the possibility of bringing the struggle to a close with that honour to Japan's arms which all expect. Today the demonstrations have taken on a more general aspect. Meetings have been held in all the principal cities to give concerted expression to the joy. In Kyoto in front of the southern wall of the Imperial palace, is a wide, open space covered scrupulously clean. Here at half-past two this aftercon thousands of the citizens of Kyoto assembled to shout . 'Banzai' for the capitulation of Port Arthur, and to give expression to their joy in other demonstrations. Either as a whole or in small groups, they were addressed by orators, all of whom congratulated Japan upon the success so far achieved in this war, but warned the people that it is no yet ended, and that in any event it is the victory, or in defeat, as becomes the citizens of a country which is now recognised as one of the Great Powers of the World. In Yokohama the demonstration was more characteristically boisterous. In by the apprehensive fears of the other European nations, until she has become a colosest windbag, seemingly something portentous but actually nothing, and now Japan has successfully punctured the bag, let out the wind, and shown to the world what a bugabon they have been making of Russia,....

It is somewhat surprising to most people o learn that a bona fide offer was made by the Russian commander to surrender Port Arthur last October, if the garrison were allowed to merch out with the honours of war. This offer Gen. Nogj declined. Setting aside, for the moment, the humanities of the case, it must be admitted that there was reason on his part. The defence of Port Arthur was continued as much for the purpose of preventing the investing army from being withdrawn to aid Gen. Oyaina, as for any other purpose; and had the Russians been permitted to withdraw in their own way, they would have gone to swell the ranks of Kurojatkin's army, thus adding to the embarr sament of the Japan-Besides, the almost contemptuous manner in which a previous suggestion by Gen. Nogi to capitulate had been received by Gen. Stoessel, did not tend to inspire respect among the Japanese.

SCOTS MARRIAGE LAW.

Its Curiosities Told in Verse

The hearing of the case in which George Whitehead sought to prove that he is the lawful son of George Whitehead and Emilie Gordon Whitehead was concluded yesterday by Sir Francis Jeune. Upon his success depended his title to £18,000. Sir Francis Joune, in giving judgment, said that the question whether a Scots irregular marriage was valid or not dependupon the intention of the parties. In this case the evidence appeared to be overwhelming that both parties intended to contract a valid marriage when they signed the documents on August 1, 1879.

In the event his lordship made a declara tion to the effect that the potitioner was the son of Mr and Mrs Whitehead, who were lawfully married on August 1, 1879. Thus George Whitehead has successfully established that he is the lawful son of his parents, who went through a form of irregular marriage in Edinburgh in 1879. The marriage took place in a private house, and was evidenced by the fact that the petitioner's parents both signed a document written out by the petitioner's father, in which they both declared their consent to

The law of irregular marriages in Scotland is admirably stated in verses which were composed in 1868 by an eminent Scotch judge, the late Lord Neaves. They are as follow :-

Ye tourists who Scotland would enter, The summer or autumn to pass. I'll tell you how far you may venture To firt with your lad or your lass : How close you may come upon marriage, Still keeping the wind of the law, And not by some foolish miscarriage Gut woo'd and married an' a'. This maxim itself might content ye, That marriage is made by consent, Provided it's done de præsanti. And marriage is really what's meant. -Suppose that young Jock and Jenny Say, 'Wo two are husband and wife,' The witnesses needn't be many. They're instantly buckled for life. Suppose the man only has spoken, The woman just givin' a nod, They're spliced by that very same token, * Till one of them's under the sod, Though words would be bolder and blunter. The want of them isn't a flaw ; For nutu signisque loquuntur. Is good consistorial law.

If people are drunk or delirious, The marriage, of course, would be bad: Or if they're not sober and serious. But acting a play or charace. It's bad if it's only a cover For cleaking a scandal or sin,

And talking a landledy over To let the folks lodge at her inn. A third way of tying the tether, Which sometimes may happen to suit Is living a good while together. And getting a married repute * But you, who are here as a stranger And don't mean to stay with us long, Are little exposed to that danger,

BY WHARF AND WAVE.

So here I may finish my song.

The Navy League, London, have sent us circular giving the following particulars of the mercantile marine and persons employed therein :- The merchant shipping tonnage of the United Kingdom was 4,658,687 in 1860; in 1903 it was 10.2 8,604. British persons employed in 1860 totalled (excluding Lascars.) 157,312. not including masters; in 1903 the total, including masters, was 176,520. The number of Lascits in 1860 is given at 335 in 1903 at 41,021. In 1860 there were 14,280 foreigners; in 1903 there were 40,398. The percentage of foreigners employed (including Lascars) in 1903 was

The Times states that the amount of mously increased of recent years. In London alone the poor law expanditure during 1904 showed an advance of £1.750,000 compared with 1884.

MILITARY SPORTS AT KOWLOON.

Entertainment by the Mahratttas.

At the invitation of Lieut. Colonel W. O. Mosse and the Officers of the 114th Mahrattas a large number of guests attended an 'At Home' given on the Kowloon Parade Ground yesterday to celebrate the capture of the Mahadeagarth Fort. Visitors commenced to arrive before 4 o'clock and by the time that the sports commenced the parade ground presented a very animated appearance.

picturesque touch being lent by the number of Indians dressed in white robes and bright coloured turbans. Light rain fell at intervals during the afternoon and forced visitors to seek shelter, but notwithstanding this the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed. Amongst those present were His Ex-

BY DR WILLIAMS' PINK PILIS.

T OST appetite means had digestion. The proof that Dr Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion in the rational way is that | Shewan, Tomes & Co. they improve the appetite from the first. Mrs McNulty, 5, Kay street, Wigan, England, said : 'I often fainted from sheer weakness. In addition to Indigestion, I & Swike. was a victim to Anemia, and had acute goasms round the heart. Each morning I felt as though I had not the energy to rise. My work became a burden. I could not est properly. Although I went to the most skiful doctor I knew of, it was not ordinary medicine I wanted. I no ded new blood, "I ffeard of remarkable cures by Dr. Williams' Pink Pille. Wh n I had tried them I felt at once a change for the better.

The dizzy feelings and fainting fits disappeared, and gradually I got back strength and perfect health." Ordinary medicine failed to cure, because ordinary medicine does not make now blood. Dr Williams' Pink Pills have, in the san e way, cured America (which is simply bloodlessness), Consumption and Declins, as well as Rheumatism, P ralysis, Gout, Sciatica, and the ailments which women endure in silence. The genuine pills bear Dr Williams' name, and substitutes should be avoided, as they never cured anyone. Dr William. Medicine Co., Holborn-visduct, London, will send a bottle post free for 2s. 9d or six for 13s. 9d., but they can be had at medicine shops, if purchasers insist | Bener u, for Benekek. on having the genuine. Soff rers are invited to write to Dr Willi ms' correspondence department, 46, Horborn-viaduct, London, with description of symptoms.
